Full Stack Engineer with 10 Years Experience

I have devoted my educational and professional life to developing efficient code, designing beautiful content, and engineering next generation products.

In middle school and high school, I would dedicate my recess time to developing websites and creating programming tutorial videos for my classmates.

Since then, I have continued my path of engineering expertise with professional experience in software, firmware, and cloud orchestration. As an engineer I am passionate, ambitious, and own every one of my projects.

I graduated from Purdue University with a Bachelor's of Science in Computer Engineering.

I got my programming start through Codecademy's programming courses in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and Python.

My skill set ranges from frontend web development to system-on-chip firmware. I have over 10 years experience in major programming languages and a formal education in Computer Engineering.
